The aim of this workshop is to tell you about the power of drawn architecture. The lecture will be related through my career: from my diploma of architect until my work of drawing of architecture for contracting authorities/ architects/etc. I will develop two thematics: imaginary architecture and stories of architecture by drawings. The purpose is to challenge the conventional representations of architecture, the neutral architecture diagrams, models and rendering with a more whimsical style that infuses with life.

We will work around imaginary architecture : drawing allows us to capture reality but also to sketch the future. As an architect, we will start from an existing situation and transform it with a lot of freedom by an imaginary drawing of architecture.
